April is World Landscape Architecture Month, an international celebration of landscape architecture. WLAM introduces the profession to the public by showcasing landscape-architect-designed spaces around the world. From the High Line in New York to your favorite local park, World Landscape Architecture Month utilizes social media to celebrate the work of ASLA’s members and landscape architects around the globe. For more information, visit asla.org/wlam.